

When bathing and brushing your pet, think of it as an opportunity to perform at-home exams in between regular vet visits.

Skin and Coat

Visually inspect for any changes in your pet's skin, such as flakiness or excessive dryness. Also, check the condition of your pet's coat and look for any bald or thinning spots.

Lumps and bumps

Run your hands over your pet thoroughly from head to toe, checking for lumps, bumps and growths. Remember to keep the grooming experience positive for your pet with lots of praise and healthy treats!
